A board-certified plastic surgeon with more than 15 years of experience, Dr. Pinsky, who is an FDA clinical investigator for Juvederm® and a key opinion leader for Allergan, delivers an unbeatable combination of technical expertise and a keen artistic sense to every patient. "So much of the surgical result is dependent upon the quality of care delivered prior to surgery," says Dr. Pinsky, whose practice focuses on procedures of the breast, body and face. He feels that what differentiates him in the arena of cosmetic surgery is his emphasis on understanding a patient's emotions. "Appearance and psyche are inextricably intertwined." By carefully tuning in to what the patients are saying, he is able to provide alternatives and feedback necessary for a natural result. Dr. Pinsky recognizes the emotionally charged decision associated with elective surgery and has built his practice around maximizing the entire experience. He has surrounded himself with a team of professionals committed to holistic care. "I ensure that all my patients are informed and empowered about procedures. My staff is highly trained to serve as a personal support system through every step of the process."

With the current state of our healthcare system, even doctors specializing in elective procedures can become mechanical—but not Dr. Pinsky. "My business is more about satisfied patients and less about the number of procedures. If a patient tells me we met her expectations, we have failed. Only if we exceed expectations can we count on building the relationships necessary for future success." Dr. Pinsky is regularly sought out to speak at plastic surgery conferences. He was a featured guest speaker at the 16th Chinese-Japan Joint Meeting on Plastic Surgery, held in Harbin, China in August 2006.

WHY DID YOU BECOME A PLASTIC SURGEON

As a first-year dental student, I attended a lecture on facial reconstruction. I was inspired by the surgeon's work and decided medical school was my calling MOST IMPORTANT THING YOU'VE LEARNED FROM YOUR PATIENTS They have taught me to be a better listener. To hear what they are saying, but more importantly, what they are not saying. I can do the same surgery a hundred times and use a hundred different approaches because no two patients are alike WHAT FASCINATES YOU MOST ABOUT THE HUMAN BODY Genetically, we all begin as one cell—microscopic DNA. After dividing exponentially, a human being is born. We are all miracles PLACE YOU GO TO ESCAPE I love the peace and quiet of the golf course FRAMED PHOTOS ON YOUR DESK My wife and son, Daelen Matthew
